

FOREWORD

It gives me immense pleasure to write the foreword for the third edition of the RGNUL Student Research Review (RSRR). I would like to take the opportunity to appreciate the efforts made by the students of RGNUL in the form of an Editorial Board for the successful completion of this edition. RSRR has inspired the young and innovative students to undertake legal research and articulate it in a comprehensible form. In the course of running the Review, the editors have not only learnt editing skills but also managerial skills.

The support of our peer-reviewers who are the leading academicians of this country, practicing advocates and other legal luminaries has been invaluable to us and I humbly thank them for the time they took out to review the articles that were submitted for consideration. I would like to take this opportunity to thank our contributors for their excellent work. I also convey my deep regards to EBC Publishers for agreeing to publish the journal for wider circulation of the excellent work undertaken through this academic endeavor.

The Issue two of the third edition begins with the guest article from Mr. Vijay Purohit & Mr. Shubham Kaushal, Arbitrations Lawyers, LexArbitri. They have very succinctly dealt with the Arbitration Amendment Act, 2015 and the possible drawbacks associated therewith which require immediate attention.

Furthermore, the contributors have provided articles on a wide spectrum of topics, discussing resolution of disputes clauses in BITs, need for development of ADR methods in order to combat problems in Adversarial System, and use of ADR means to solve Family and IP Related disputes whilst commenting on the case of Rick v. Brandsema & Eros International Media Ltd. v. Telemax Links India Pvt Ltd.

We would appreciate any further improvements in the journal as may be suggested by the contributors.
